When asked what they found meaningful about volunteering with Next Engineers, volunteers shared:

“ A few kids who may not have seemed too interested at first were fully immersed in the event by the end. That was rewarding.”

“ It emphasized the importance of the work we do as engineers, especially in relation to how we strive to make lives better.”

“ It was fantastic to think that I may have contributed, whether it be a little or a lot, to a young person's perception of engineering.”
